Macroeconomic indicators - Ukrainian inflation in August might be zero

Sunday, 23 Aug, 2009

Ukrainian Journal cited Mr Valeriy Lytvytsky the head of the group of advisors to the NBU's governor as saying that inflation in Ukraine in August might be zero, given the expected decrease in consumer prices.

He said that "There is cautious optimism that in August we'll have stable prices and slight deflation in food prices. If we even see inflation, it will be measured within the level of statistical error, one tenth."
