
BSL aims for higher production target

Saturday, 24 Oct, 2009

ET reported that Delhi based Bhushan Steel that essentially makes cold rolled coils consumed in sectors such as automobiles and home appliances is looking to hike production capacity anticipating higher domestic demand that would help it grow revenues 20% to 25% for the next two quarters.

(Sourced from Economic Times)

For more news visit at www.steelguru.com