
Macroeconomic indicators - UK industrial output up in Nov

Monday, 18 Jan, 2010

According to the Office for National Statistics, UK industrial production in November rose by 0.4% from the previous month.

Industrial output fell by 6% YoY as compared with November 2008. The figures give weight to the view that the UK exited recession in the Q4 of 2009.

For more news visit at www.steelguru.com