
Macroeconomic indicators - Inflation up in Oct due to rise in food prices

Sunday, 15 Nov, 2009

As per the new monthly index introduced led by costlier food prices, wholesale inflation rose to 1.34% in October compared with 0.50% in the previous month.

The report said that fuel and power category rose by 0.1% during October mainly due to higher prices of furnace oil by 3% and bitumin by 1%. However the prices of aviation turbine fuel declined by 8%.

(Sourced from Zeenews.com)

For more news visit at www.steelguru.com