
Attract more visitors to your company web site

Wednesday, 18 Nov, 2009

With the ever increasing use of internet for dissemination of information, every company's website is becoming one of most important medium, with almost zero cost, to make announcements, solicit new clients and promote products.

Company websites, which are virtual show cases, are generally designed with great zeal and efforts but do not serve the full purpose as they lack viewers. In fact they are visited mostly by only those who are specifically referred thus limiting the reach severely.

We would like to inform you of a unique opportunity to reach global steel industry and allied sectors through our platform www.steelguru.com, which is the most popular and visited English based steel portal globally with average daily page hits of 80,000+ per day. You may like to check our ranking using www.alexa.com, where it can be compared with other web sites.

We can put your advert on www.steelguru.com through an image, hyper linked to your website. This could increase the traffic to your web site and help you leverage it to your advantage.

Visit our website to know more details
<http://steelguru.com/advertise>

Or send a mail to advert@steelguru.com and we would be happy to answer your queries if any

For more news visit at www.steelguru.com