Olympia Steel announces steel building stimulus package

Wednesday, 18 Nov, 2009

Mr Arnold Davis president of Olympia Steel Buildings said that "For a limited time, Olympia is offering its own steel building stimulus package. Customers who act immediately and order steel buildings or metal building systems in the month of November can save thousands by locking in their price before the cost of steel again rises, causing building prices to increase as a result of the increased cost of materials."

In mid October 2009, steel prices started falling to an historic low not expected to last beyond November 2009, with steel prices expected to rise again to new highs in only 3 months.

He added that "We want to give our customers the opportunity to benefit from the current low steel prices when ordering metal buildings and custom steel buildings systems. But they need to act immediately because steel's historic low price is not expected to last beyond November 2009."
