
Baosteel enhances cooperation with US Allegheny Technologies

Friday, 20 Nov, 2009

Recently Mr Xu Lejiang Chairman of Baosteel Group Corporation met with Mr Jon D Walton Executive Vice President of US Allegheny Technologies Inc in Shanghai. Both sides exchanged views on market situation, special steel manufacture etc.

Mr Xu Lejiang analyzed Chinese iron & steel market and new project progression of Baosteel Co Ltd Special Steel Business Unit.

Mr Walton introduced US special steel market dynamics and present manufacturing and operation in Allegheny. Both sides agreed to enhance communication and understanding to facilitate active cooperation in strengthening special steel manufacture.

Allegheny Technologies Inc with it's headquartering at Pittsburg in USA is one of the largest special steel manufacturers in today's world. Its affiliated production bases, service centers and sales corporations spread over America and 17 other nations and regions. Its ATI Allegheny Ludlum is a world class producer of special steel, with main products covering stainless, silicon, tool steel and titanium, nickel as well as other advanced alloys sold in over 30 nations and regions. Its products are widely used in aerospace, petroleum, oil & gas, nuclear energy, medical care etc.

For more news visit at www.steelguru.com