
Downsizing deals - ArcelorMittal Warren coke plant to restart

Wednesday, 03 Feb, 2010

Tribune Chronicle reported that ArcelorMittal immediately will begin calling about 65 workers back to work at its Warren coke plant to prepare for a mid year startup.

Mr Adam Warrington said the company is working closely with the United Steelworkers to ensure a safe and successful restart.

ArcelorMittal began cutting production in November 2008 and served notice last May that it would idle the coke plant.

(Sourced from Tribune Chronicle)

For more news visit at www.steelguru.com