
Ramky Infrastructure wins orders worth INR 700 crore

Monday, 08 Feb, 2010

Projects Today reported that Hyderabad based Ramky Infrastructure has bagged orders aggregating INR 700.4 crore. The order details are as follows:

1. An order worth INR 282.17 crore from the Puducherry government for establishment of a comprehensive sewerage scheme to be completed in 36 months
2. An INR 108.06 crore order awarded by the Naya Raipur Development Authority for construction of a capital complex in a span of 15 months
3. An order worth INR 106.35 crore for the construction of a government medical college building at Raigarh in Chhattisgarh. The proposed time for completion is 30 months
4. Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board awarded an INR 38.26 crore order for providing sewerage system to Krishnarajapuram
5. INR 29.72 crore order from Public Works Department, Madhya Pradesh, for widening of two-lane and improvement of Baihar Parswada Lamta Road
6. Construction of Indian Institute of Science Education & Research for the Indian Institute of Science Education & Research in Bhopal at a cost of INR 53.79 crore
7. Supplying, laying and joining distribution mains in Indore for Indore Municipal Corporation at a contract value of INR 82.05 crore

(Sourced from www.projectstoday.com)

For more news visit at www.steelguru.com