
Dongfeng to launch 2 new sedan models

Saturday, 10 Jan, 2009

China Knowledge reported that Dongfeng Motor Corp, the second largest automaker in China plans to launch two sedan models under its own brand in the first half of this year.

According to the report, the two models, namely EQ7240 and DFM7160 were developed by Dongfeng's 51 -controlled joint venture in Shandong and its own engineers based in the central China city of Wuhan.

Dongfeng will debut the two models at the Shanghai Auto Fair in April and the new sedan models are expected to further complement the company's passenger vehicle production line.

(Sourced from chinaknowledge.com)

For more news visit at www.steelguru.com