
Ukrainian HR mills attempting price hike

Monday, 02 Feb, 2009

There was a lull in Black Sea steel export market during last week in general. Despite of market fluctuations seen last week, prices are close to previous levels.

Quite strange situation is on the HRC market, as last week some the Ukrainian producers tried to lift prices by around USD 40 per tonne that pushed spot market quotations a little bit.

The Ukrainian mills are heard to be loaded with orders but most of them are coming to the market on short term basis.

To keep tab on steel prices subscribe to services of www.steelprices-india.com by registering or sending a mail to admin@steelprices-india.com. Please note that this is a paid service.

(Sourced from www.steelprices-india.com)

For more news visit at www.steelguru.com