Cavotec wins big Saudi Oger order

Tuesday, 27 Jan, 2009

Cavotec MSL announced that it has clinched a major order for the delivery of 53 integrated ground support systems and associated equipment from Saudi Oger, one of the major construction companies in Saudi Arabia.

The orders includes 53 in ground pit systems of which five are pop up pits units that emerge from the tarmac when required, and retract flush with the apron surface after use and 24 converters and associated material.

Mr Juergen Strommer MD of Cavotec Middle East, the Group's Dubai based subsidiary, said that "It is a heartwarming appreciation of our efforts to be chosen by such a prestigious organization as Saudi Oger. This further solidifies our reputation in the region as a supplier of innovative solutions to highly demanding industrial sectors such as aviation, mining, ports and maritime."

He added that "We are committed to provide Saudi Oger with the best services and the most advanced technologies that only Cavotec MSL can bring."

Mr Strommer added that the systems will be installed in two aircraft hangars in the Saudi capital Riyadh and the coastal city of Jeddah.

Cavotec is a leading global engineering group and supplier of innovative solutions for airport, maritime and general industries.
