
Directory of Steel Pipe Makers in China

Tuesday, 12 May, 2009

Welded pipe and seamless pipe are the two major categories of tubular products in China and are not only used domestically but are exported across the world.

China's seamless pipe enterprises began expansion from 2004. By end of 2006, the nation's capacity of these products reached 16.5 million tonnes. As the world's first producer, China has over 300 seamless steelmakers, a part of which possess first rate manufacturing technology and most advanced facilities, bringing domestic sufficiency close to 90%.

On welded pipe, the producers are distributed more scattered, bulk of which are privately owned and have a relatively big capacity. Yet, many productions are affected by seasonal factors and actual output can be less than the total capacity of 37 million tonnes. ERW accounts for around 80% of the total welded pipe production capacity.
