
Wuyang Steel obtains steel contract for Xi'an railway project

Friday, 19 Jun, 2009

It is reported that as present, Hebei Steel Group Wuyang Iron and Steel Co Ltd has clinched a steel contract with a Jiangsu based company to provide 7,100 tonnes of construction steel products for the high speed railway station construction at Xi'an city in Sha'anxi province.

The construction of the high speed railway station has enlarged the market space for the construction steel products. Wuyang Steel will fully contribute its advantages to widen the future market.

(Source: China Metallurgical News)

For more news visit at www.steelguru.com