Industrial Leaders debuts its SS storage tanks buying guide

Wednesday, 24 Jun, 2009

Industrial Leaders, publisher of over 190 industrial product directories, has announced the debut of its new marketplace of material handling products with offers for plastic, metal and fiberglass tanks. The company reported the site includes a specialized directory with offerings for various tanks, vessels, containers and other fluid storage and processing equipment from US and international suppliers.

Ms Maria Santos spokeswoman of Industrial Leaders said that the directory provides access to domestic and overseas manufacturers and exporters providing standard and custom made stainless steel tanks as well as aboveground and underground carbon steel, plastic and fiberglass tanks.

Ms Santos said that companies in the market for fluid storage equipment are able to submit price quotes directly to suppliers in national and international markets. She added that "Industrial Leaders first launched its directory of tanks and vessels in 2003 which has grown to thousands of products from manufacturers in the United States, Canada, UK, Germany and several other European markets. Those in the market for a custom designed or OEM storage tank constructed in various metals and plastics will find numerous offerings in the directory from suitable metal fabricators, plastic molders and other manufacturers."

In addition to its new fluid storage equipment marketplace, Industrial Leaders, in partnership with ForeignTRADEX also publishes an international directory of primarily of metal and plastic tanks. The publication includes offerings for a wide range of underground and above ground tanks lined and coated to be corrosion resistance and suitable for a broad variety water, gas, oil, chemicals and other liquid storage applications.
